Characteristics of incomplete thesis (Graduate School will return to students if present)

And important documents required for thesis submission

A complete thesis should consist of a signature of thesis advisor, and a signature of the Dean of Graduate School ready to submit to the Dean of Faculty and publish further. These following details are the characteristics of incomplete thesis that students should review before submission to Graduate School.

1. Characteristics of incomplete thesis

1.1 No thesis certification

1.2 Missing components:

1.2.1 Abstract Thai – English (either or both)

1.2.2 Table of content (Lists of Table, Lists of Figures)

1.2.3 Page number (partially or throughout thesis)

1.3 Other components that represent bad arrangement

1.3.1 Hand-written with pen or pencil, or pasted up of page number

1.3.2 Short note written with pen or pencil inserted in main text.

1.3.3 Overall image of thesis, such as unequal page setup, different fonts type or size, different type of paper – quality less than 80 grams or not white plane paper throughout thesis, or too many mistakes such as incorrect spelling (all of the above or just partially)

2. Important documents required for thesis submission

Students should enclose these following important documents when submitting thesis. Otherwise, the Graduate School will not accept it.

2.1 GS 28 (Except for students who passed thesis examination with no further revision necessary)

2.2 GS 29

2.3 GS 37

2.4 Certification for reference certified by thesis advisor of Faculty of Agriculture (every departments except Department of Agricultural Extension and Agricultural Economics) Faculty of Science Department of Biology, and Faculty of Technology Department of Food Technology.
